“We don’t rely on existing ideas, but always strive to rethink every single detail,” said Adrian Alonso, Head of Gamegenic. “With the unique relationship that people have with their games, we take improving their needs very seriously. CATAN deserves extraordinary accessories and this is a collection of our very best thinking. When you start using these during gameplay they become so much more than just ordinary gaming supplies.”

The partnership with Gamegenic combines ingenious design and quality materials to create accessories designed to perfectly complement the popular board game CATAN.

“We are very pleased to be working with the exceptionally creative team at Gamegenic,” said Pete Fenlon, CEO of CATAN Studio. “We were wowed by each design and we are proud to bring these tough, tactile accessories into our collection of fine CATAN products,” he said.
